THE GREEK GOD PROGRAM

A 4-day training system built for broad shoulders, a narrow waist, and a body built on proportion — not just size.

BY CHUKWUDI OSHILIM — MR. DISCIPLINE

Proportion over size

The "Greek god" look isn't about being the biggest lifter in the gym. It's about proportion — the classical aesthetic of broad, capped shoulders, a wide back, a tight waist, and a body that looks built on purpose, not by accident. That look comes from training ratios, not random workouts.

This guide is a system, not a pep talk. Four training days a week, the same structure, every week. Motivation quits. Discipline doesn't — and discipline is just showing up for the plan below.

- Shoulder-to-waist ratio — wide delts and lats against a tight midsection is the single biggest driver of the "V-taper" look.
- Back width — pull-focused work builds the width that makes the waist look smaller without losing a pound.
- A trained-not-just-lean core — visible abs come from diet, but a strong, trained core is what makes the torso look sculpted under it.
- Symmetry — arms, legs, and shoulders developed evenly, not just "mirror muscles." Leg day is not optional in this program.

The 4-day split

Day	Focus	Why it's here
Day 1	Push — Chest, Shoulders, Triceps	Builds the front shelf of the chest and shoulders
Day 2	Pull — Back, Biceps	Builds the width behind the V-taper
Day 3	Active recovery + core	Recovery without losing momentum
Day 4	Shoulders & Arms	Direct work for boulder shoulders & arm definition
Day 5	Legs & Glutes	Balanced physique — no skipping leg day
Day 6–7	Rest	Walk, stretch, sleep — this is where you grow

The only progression rule you need: when you hit the top of the rep range on every set for an exercise, add weight (or one rep) next session. That's it — repeat that for months and the program does the rest.

Rest 60–90 seconds between accessory sets, 2–3 minutes between heavy compound lifts (squat, bench, deadlift-pattern work, overhead press). Warm up with 2–3 light ramp-up sets before your first working set of every session.

Push — Chest, Shoulders, Triceps

DAY 1

Chest and shoulder work builds the front width that anchors the V-taper look. Lead with the heaviest compound lift while you're fresh.

Exercise	Sets	Reps	Rest
Barbell or Dumbbell Bench Press	4	6–8	2 min
Incline Dumbbell Press	3	8–10	90 sec
Standing Overhead Press	3	6–8	2 min
Dumbbell Lateral Raise	3	12–15	60 sec
Cable or Dip Triceps Pushdown	3	10–12	60 sec
Overhead Triceps Extension	3	10–12	60 sec

Pull — Back, Biceps

DAY 2

This is the width day. A wide back is what makes the waist look narrower than it is — treat pull-ups and rows as the priority lifts.

Exercise	Sets	Reps	Rest
Pull-Ups or Lat Pulldown	4	6–10	2 min
Barbell or Dumbbell Row	4	8–10	90 sec
Seated Cable Row	3	10–12	90 sec
Face Pulls	3	15	60 sec
Barbell or Dumbbell Curl	3	8–10	60 sec
Hammer Curl	3	10–12	60 sec

Active Recovery + Core

DAY 3

A lighter day, not an off day. Keep blood moving and train the core directly — this is what makes the midsection look tight under the shoulders you're building.

Exercise	Sets	Reps	Rest
Walk or light cardio	—	20–30 min	—
Hanging Leg Raise	3	12–15	60 sec
Cable Woodchopper	3	12 / side	45 sec
Plank	3	45–60 sec hold	45 sec
Hip, shoulder & spine mobility	—	10 min	—

Skip the gym entirely if you need to — a walk and the mobility work still counts as Day 3.

Shoulders & Arms

DAY 4

Direct shoulder volume is what turns “trained” into “boulder shoulders.” Push the lateral raises hard — that's the exercise doing the most for the look.

Exercise	Sets	Reps	Rest
Seated Dumbbell Shoulder Press	4	6–8	2 min
Dumbbell Lateral Raise (drop set last set)	4	12–15	60 sec
Rear Delt Fly	3	12–15	60 sec
Barbell Curl	3	8–10	60 sec
Skull Crushers	3	8–10	60 sec
Curl + Pushdown Superset	2 rounds	12 each	60 sec

Legs & Glutes

DAY 5

Skipping leg day is the fastest way to look top-heavy and off-balance. Squat first, while you're strongest.

Exercise	Sets	Reps	Rest
Barbell Back Squat	4	6–8	2–3 min
Romanian Deadlift	3	8–10	2 min
Walking Lunges	3	12 / leg	90 sec
Leg Press	3	10–12	90 sec
Standing Calf Raise	4	12–15	60 sec

Nutrition & the rule

Nutrition, kept simple: aim for roughly 0.8–1g of protein per pound of bodyweight a day. Eat in a slight surplus if the goal is size, a slight deficit if the goal is leaning out — pick one at a time, not both. If eating out is your weak point, pair this with the Fast Food Eating Guide.

The rule: motivation gets you to Day 1. Discipline gets you to Day 200. Run the 4 days, add the rep when you can, and repeat. That's the entire program. — Chukwudi Oshilim, Mr. Discipline
